When Labels Don't Fit: Hispanics and Their Views of Identity- Pew Hispanic Research Report

- Nearly four decades after the United States government mandated the use of the terms "Hispanic" or "Latino" to categorize Americans who trace their roots to Spanish-speaking countries, a new nationwide survey of Hispanic adults finds that these terms still haven't been fully embraced by Hispanics themselves.
- A majority (51%) say they most often identify themselves by their family's country of origin; just 24% say they prefer a pan-ethnic label.

Warming Up to the Cold Call: Generating Interest Through Asking Questions-Business Accelerator powered by American Family Insurance

- You're about to make a cold call, and you have it all covered. You know your product inside and out. You've got all the technical stats memorized. You know why your company is a leader in its field. You are loaded with confidence and enthusiasm.
- You are certain you are going to win, and you are dead wrong.
- You missed one essential piece of the puzzle: the customer. You might have begun the pitch thinking about covering a generic list of features and benefits. You forgot to ask one question: "What does the prospect want or need?"
