Spanish Language Programming

Escape to PowerPoint Adventure is a computer-based program developed by University of Illinois Extension. This program has been designed for students who want to learn PowerPoint to improve their classroom presentation skills.

This program will help schools reduce the digital divide by providing students opportunities to use computers, software used for school assignments, and devices such as digital cameras and camcorders.

Escape to PowerPoint promotes project oriented learning as a way to socialize scientific knowledge. Students will work on projects using research based information.

There are two versions of the program: Instructor and student version. The CD-ROM for Instructors Includes everything they need to teach this program.

The CD-ROM Working with Hispanics/Latinos contains practical tips that may help individuals and/or organizations to better approach the Hispanic/Latino audience.

It identifies needs, issues, and proper ways to reach newcomers, settlers, and second generation Hispanics/Latinos in the United States.

The CD-ROM also explains the meaning of Hispanic and Latino terms, their trends of education, economic impact and much more.

University of Illinois Extension * U.S. Department of Agriculture * Local Extension Councils Cooperating * University of Illinois Extension provides equal opportunities in programs and employment.
